

Tale of Two Cities

Tale of Two Cities is a teaching resource designed to create a safe space for young people to discuss different forms of extremism and how people can be drawn into extremist activity using videos, group discussions and activities. The resource supports critical thinking around extremism and provides young people with guidance on how to keep themselves safe.

Tale of Two Cities is recommended for students from Year 9 upwards.

What is radicalisation?

How does somebody become radicalised?

Where can I turn for help or support?

What does it mean to be an extremist?

What is Right-Wing Extremism?

What is the difference between Islam and militant Islam?
