I will be looking forwards to a new micro brewery created by Holmfirth locals who grew up in the village and continue to develop the tradition of local brewing in the area. Personally growing up with and witnessing his dedication to upholding traditional design for pubs (The Farmers Arms) There is no one I trust more to design and develop the type of brewery that is desperately needed in villages like Holmfirth. Somthing to combat the bars and clubs that seam to have little interest in the local history or Yorkshire tradition.
