| we consider it good that this very prominent Market Street building will be back in use, avoiding further deterioration of the fabric; but we hope that it will retain its integrity as a building; and we are concerned that it will lose its handsome internal fittings which show succeeding generations how important the village was when it had three fine bank buildings. We hope a record will be kept for research and educational purposes. Whilst accepting necessary change, we would like to plead for awareness of what the village will also lose as the character of its main street leaves behind its history. |
