With the addition of these three dwellings, it will place a strain on an area which is already congested with traffic and people parking for work as they have the potential to introduce six additional vehicles. Along with the additional traffic, the dwellings also pose a safety risk as the driveways will back out onto a blind bend. The houses are of very modern design and will be out of character with the traditional character of properties in Low Town. The decimation of the land in November 2018, and the lack of plans to replace has contributed to the loss of trees and birdlife.
