I would like to think with this plot of land which is surrounded by lanes, definition of which is a narrow road that common sense would be used by someone, 75 houses is likely to mean anything between 130 & 150 more vehicles would be using THESE LANES which are already blocked at times, cars on pavements especially at school times, why are they on the pavement, because the lanes are too narrow to cope with the traffic which is because children are coming from out of the area. Has anyone from the planning department seen the state of traffic on these lanes, Wellhouse lane is frequently blocked and Crossley Lane is a proper country lane, all these lanes converge on one another. Also where is the infrastructure coming from, it's already a nightmare trying to get a doctors appointment, this will affect everyone in Mirfield not just the immediate area. Two weeks ago bins could not be emptied certainly on some part of Wellhouse lane because of parked cars on the road and the dustbin wagon couldn't get through, people with wheelchairs or pushchairs can't get passed when cars are on the pavement, these lanes are definitely over loaded with cars already never mind possibly s is another 130/150 converging on these lanes, this is something which should be taken seriously.
