How many times is this planning application going to be allowed. It's failed on every occasion so far There are numerous reasons for refusal. The main ones being entirely unsuitable access to the site. The surrounding roads weren't designed to cope with the amount of traffic that would be generated. The roads are basically lanes and are quite narrow with one only one way with a very dodgy junction (top of Hepworth lane). Wellhouse lane is another narrow lane at its junction with Flash lane. Balderstone Hall lane is very narrow. Crossley lane very narrow. Do you see the point here? They're all lanes and narrow by their nature. None have pavements on the entire length of them. Partial pavement on Hepworth Lane and Wellhouse Lane Why are you so intent on covering every square inch of North Kirklees. It's already chaotic. Why don't you look around South Kirklees where there is plenty of land that could be used for development.
