

Adult & Community Learning Handbook - Appendix I Assessment & Feedback Checklist

Use the checklist below to ascertain which key principles you use in relation to assessment and feedback.

ASSESSMENT	✓
Assessment has been designed to aid learners' learning
Assessment tasks and processes are fair
Assessment criteria is clear and unambiguous
For accredited learning assessment aligns with the requirements of the awarding body
For non-accredited learning assessment aligns to the requirements of RARPA
Assessment methods and content are reviewed periodically to ensure fitness for purpose
Summative assessment is designed to mark the work and not the learner submitting it
Consistency of marking is checked through internal verification and/or standardisation
A diverse range of assessment methods is used, to ensure assessment methodologies are inclusive
Opportunities for assessing English and maths skills have been built into the assessment programme

FEEDBACK	✓
Feedback is given in ways which promote learners' learning
Feedback makes use of the 'growth mindset'
Feedback is given on all assessed work, both formative (assessment for learning) and summative
Curriculum design is informed by a requirement to integrate opportunities for giving and receiving feedback
Feedback is relevant, informative and fit for purpose
Feedback includes areas for development and areas of good practice. Areas for development gives guidance on next steps
Feedback is timely and given within a reasonable timescale
Feedback is effective and uses a range of approaches, including both oral and written feedback
Feedback provides tutors with information that can be used in curriculum development
Feedback includes corrections of spelling, grammar and punctuation
