The basics

THIS FACTSHEET WILL INFORM YOU ABOUT:

- 2 The Kirklees perspective
- 3 More information

A hate crime is any crime that is motivated by hostility on the grounds of race, sexual orientation, disability, religion or gender identity. Similarly, a hate incident is any incident perceived by the victim, or any other person, to be motivated by hostility or prejudice based on the person's:

- race,
- sexual orientation,
- disability,
- religion,
- gender identity.

Hate crimes and incidents can take place anywhere - at home, in public places, at work or in school. Crimes can include threats, verbal abuse, graffiti, arson, robbery, violence, or damage.

The National Hate Crime Plan published in July 2016, focuses on 5 key areas:

- Preventing hate crime by challenging beliefs and attitudes through education for young people
- Responding to hate crime with the aim of reducing incidents through security funding and other measures
- Increasing reporting of hate crime
- Improving support for victims
- Building understanding of hate crimes through data collection and analysis.

In 2017/2018, there were 94,098 offences recorded by the police in which one or more hate crime strands were deemed to be a motivating factor. This is an increase of 17% compared to the previous year.

The Kirklees perspective

The Kirklees Hate Crime Strategy, created in partnership with the Hate Crime Strategic Group, sets out the principles and objectives underpinning our local service delivery. This strategy actively links in with the Kirklees Communities Partnership Plan theme of protecting people from serious harm through prevention and early intervention/ resolution.

The Kirklees Hate Crime Strategy works within a changing socio-economic and demographic environment; as a result working collaboratively with safeguarding and victim support is central to this strategy and a key objective for tackling hate crime in Kirklees. The Strategy closely follows three fundamental principles:

- No hierarchy of hate - the service is victim focused and protects everyone equally - no one type of incident that is reported will have precedence over any other
- Hate Has No Place - the best way to address hate crime is to prevent it happening in the first place and where it does happen to support victims and hold perpetrators to account at the earliest opportunity
- Community engagement and confidence is critical to the delivery of the strategy.

Applying the Kirklees Strategy to the wider National Hate Crime Plan ensures our local approach has the following key objectives:

Prevention

Early intervention

Developing intelligence led approaches, tools and powers

High-risk management and review

Provision and delivery

Review and monitoring
