Details of the pre-application advice received:

Residential impact: seems limited, would depend on what windows no.22a has on its north facing side elevation. Seems to be none from your photos. No.22a's garden seems small so I would be keen for there to be no-overbearing, but the distance and orientation seem to prohibit this.

Design impact: It looks a little wide from the draft plans. It's hard to tell if this would be harmful to the visual amenity of the terrace row without visiting the site, but from my experience it would be better not projecting so far. I'm assuming materials will be to match. As per BE2 the fenestration should accord / harmonise with the host building's, which it doesn't seem to do at the moment. Generally I'd like to see the cills and lintels line up, with the placement less ad-hoc. If the projecting is reduced this may fall into line

Highways: It's not an adopted road and it would appear the dwelling as existing hosts no off-road parking. Subject to the sightlines not being unduly harmful, I can't see it being a major factor.
