

About the application

Application number: 2018/92749
What is the application for?:	Variation conditions 1 (discontinuation of use), 4 (commencement date/hours of o
Address of the site or building:	The Eden Centre, 35, Dryclough Road, Crosland Moor, Huddersfield, HD4 5HY
Postcode:	HD4 5HY

User comments

Type of comment: An objection
This building was initially a pub converted into a community space after a few planning applications, one being for conversion into flats too. Now this space is at present not being used for community use to include the whole of the local community, which was the initial impression given when an application for a community space was made last time around, but used for religious practice for the Muslim community. It seems to already be a mosque type premises where many attend and the roads around already having issues from the nearby school traffic, is also having to put up with excessively numerous vehicles turning up and congesting the roads and footpaths around the immediate area, this is becoming a great concern for residents on the Walpole Estate and other surrounding roads especially Dryclough Road who are the ones that have this ongoing huge traffic issue. Do we really need to increase even more traffic in what are really residential roads not main highway roads. So my objection is on the increase of unnecessary traffic pressures adding to the existing traffic issues and the fact it was supposed to be a community space for all and that is not what is happening.