This is a landmark for the Luddites who fought hard for our villages and the rest of the UK. There are plenty of houses in disrepair in the area which could be sorted without having to demolish our local history. Luddites are the only thing I was interested in at school and we have to travel to a museum in Manchester to learn more. Can this building not be turned into a Luddite museum for our past and future learners and actually keep some heritage in our area rather than building more houses. Thank you for listening
