Whilst very disappointing that original plans were rejected, I remain positive and with full support regarding the altered plans. This will still allow the family to remain in close proximity for support to their mum in a very manageable property. Once again, there is absolutely no issue with any neighbouring property. It is a very sympathetic proposal within the privacy of the grounds to The main Hall residence. It also allows The Hall to retain its character within heritage title. Furthermore, I still remain very confused with local planning decisions generally. More specifically and relevant to this application; how a much greater imposing development of several properties built within the grounds of Duxbury Hall, across the main road, and within the same council regulations, managed to secure approval. These multiple detached dwellings appear to have much greater impact on the features of that listed heritage building and the neighbouring area too, with direct access of multiple vehicles onto the A62, an extremely busy main road. I hope there is a successful conclusion for this plan now, to allow the development to proceed
