Re our telephone conversation regarding the extension at no: 11. I do feel that firstly the window is of a serious concern

Despite the fact that if this would be of a high obscurity (level 5) this would also be a problem when the light was switched on as it would shine across As I mentioned when a house adjacent to us was extended because the upper window overlooked a neighbours property the planning dept., insisted that this be a high level narrow window, despite being quite a large distance between the 2 properties, therefore the same regulation should apply to this proposal.

All the extended houses in this cul de sac do not have windows that overlook neighbouring windows.

When this was first put on the planning portal I did object to this window and when I spoke to the case officer her she did say she had been to site and that in her words " The new extension is very close to your property". I did ask her if it went through could I appeal and she told me yes I could. However when I saw that it has been approved I called her & said I wanted to appeal and was told no you cannot do this! Therefore I do feel that this is Oppressive and leaves me feeling quite emotional every day.

Also a further amended plan has been put forward which differs from the original plan that was passed. That being that the West elevation roof structure above the bi-folding doors is a departure from the approved drawing and is overbearing in it's nature. The Officer report on the original granted plans stated that the roof should be of a sloping nature (hip) to take some of the mass away from the shared boundary. Despite this a gable end has been built before any planning permission has been granted and on the application it asks Has work been started without consent they have answered No.

I do feel that the council have not taken my concerns seriously as no-one has been to look at this extension for quite some time to see how all this impacts us. I did speak to you a while ago and you asked if you could come into our back garden to actually assess what /how all this would affect us. However you informed me when I asked when you were coming round you said that the planning dept were not yet doing site visits.

I do think that before the amended plans are decided upon that a planning officer should actually visit the site to see just how much of an impact these have on ourselves, rather than rely on some photographs taken be ourselves and number 11 as no-one has been on site for some considerable time now. The housing market has moved now to allow viewing so has the council any plans to do this now.
