Hi.

Please see attached photo, I would like some advice regarding the boundary wall. I feel this new wall is either too close or crossing the boundary to my house. Please can I have some advice regarding rules/guidance regarding boundary walls.

On the plans for this extension I cannot see how much gap is supposed to be left between boundary walls. This plans show a gap whereas this wall has been built right up to the boundary wall, as you can see from the picture they have cut into the existing boundary wall to lay the new bricks. I would really appreciate it if someone could contact me to discuss this.
