The parking situation in townhead is really bad, most households have multiple vehicles and the parking spaces are just not available. This application, is to remove a 5 metre section of wall, which is less than 1/3 of the wall length, so not a big loss. On the plus side the applicant would have a large parking area. The other residents in the row of adjoining terrace houses would also have easy access to there off-road parking spaces, by not having to navigate a very narrow gap into the courtyard. The proposed section to be removed is not a parking area, so it's not a case of loosing an onroad parking space, to gain an off-road space. Looking at the application, the applicant is committed to re using existing materials in keeping with the local conservation area. So really this is a win win situation and should be approved.
