The area is already heavily populated. The survey done on the road which will support the houses is dangerous there are no pavements and Cars often drive down there too fast. The traffic flow is heavy though admittedly less durning lock down when the survey was completed to assess traffic flow on the road. It would be irresponsible to build more houses with children who would have to walk down that road. I have almost been hit multiple times due to the lack of passing areas and pavements. Also there is minimal green area left. We often see lots bats foxes etc Where are the animals going to go? Finally the amount of noise and disturbance created by this new estate will be large.
