This would be terrible for the area if this happens. Yes more affordable housing is required in the area but not at the risk of the surroundings. The green belt area which you are wanting to build on is beautiful and used by many. In the last few months even more people have been using the area and discovering and rediscovering there local area which is beautiful. Families have been out discovering the diffrent things growing and the diffrent animals that live in the green belt areas. The traffic that this would fetch to the area would be stupid at times this is a very busy area. And there has been accidents in the area due to traffic.
