I find it frankly ludicrous that this application is even being considered. Neighbouring roads to this plot of land (such as the A653) are main roads, and are already congested. The building of this many houses will further exacerbate the matter, causing untold levels of pollution and a huge effect on local wildlife. An increase in traffic will present a bigger danger on these roads for local children. High school places tend to be at a premium in this area, and the introduction of potentially hundreds of children to the area will cause huge issues. Also, in an area that is prone to flooding, there could be a huge knock-on effect to neighbouring estates. Urban sprawl is also a huge issue. I believe, if this application were to be successful, it would not only be irresponsible but potentially dangerous.
