To whom it may concern,

I would like to object in the strongest possible terms to this development.

This area, containing countryside and woodland containing increasingly rare species, is VITAL for the environmental health of the local area, the country and the planet, as well as the emotional and physical health of local residents.

I would urge local authorities to instead look at regenerating brownfield or urban areas, and also to look at longer-term policies that involve limiting or reducing human population growth for the good of humankind and nature.

Yours faithfully
