The ancient land upon which the proposed development will destroy is of significant importance as it has been used to produce food for centuries. The ongoing conflict in Ukraine clearly demonstrates the need for the UK to be less dependant on imports. Farmland destroyed by building projects of this nature can never be re-instated, consequently depletion of an important natural recourse will be lost forever. In addition the road network in the vicinity will be overloaded even further at times significant congestion is becoming a problem. The land involved is a valuable service to wildlife and the local population for recreation. It also makes a significant contribution to the control of global warming via carbon capture through woodland on the site. Whilst I understand their may be a need for more housing, it must not be at the expense of such a valuable asset .
