I wish to object to this development of 181 dwellings, as the area concerned is of huge importance both in terms of agriculture (at a time when we are meant to be becoming more self-sufficient), and because it is an area of natural beauty (wether this is recognised officially or not). With two ancient woods and numerous hedgerows, I also believe that the loss of the network of footpaths which have crossed these fields for generations, will have a deleterious effect on the mental health of the people of the local area. More important will be the loss of habitat for several species of wildlife, not to speak of the additional traffic entailed (also bad for the health of the local residents).
