Dear sirs, The provision and integration of social Housing is compulsory on development's over a certain amount of dwellings yet rather than embrace this we see as in this application the grouping of two blocks of four sited together. Why are they not split across the site, and why do they have to be flats , why no bungalows ? ideal for the elderly, surely small two bedroom bungalows or houses as recommending by planners in the original outline planning permission would be more in keeping with the spirit of affordable or social housing.
Yours
