I feel there are much better places in Thornhill for a memorial to be sited. By erecting this on the golf course it will stop a much loved facility being reinstated. A group of young men have been meeting with our MP for many months with a view to reinstating the golf course. Discussions have been taking place between the council and the MPs office and the friends of the Rectory Park are in full support of reopening the golf course. The memorial wheel could be sited on the island at the bottom of Frank Lane and an avenue of trees could lead up the long drive to Thornhill pit where the disaster occurred. Concerns have been voiced about a memorial being built outside Thornhill, with that train of thought, where could be better than the pit site .
