I object to this application with the following concerns: - There are no public toilets in Marsden and this takeaway does not even have toilets for the staff - A building of this kind is not in keeping with the conservation area. The application does not accurately reflect the current state of the site, which has recently been renovated and would have it's appearance diminished by a prefab structure of this kind - The site is opposite sheltered accommodation. The recent boom in outdoor activities means that Marsden's existing cafes and takeaways often have crowds congregated outside, and adding an extra crowd here would not be helpful - The location on a blind bend, with no parking, is unhelpful, and gathered crowds will force pedestrians by onto the road in a dangerous place - There are already a number of cafes in Marsden. In the event that their popularity is not sustained, as the UK opens back up from lockdown, a derelict temporary structure would be an event worse eyesore. Why add an extra building of this kind rather than find a vacant unit? I also believe this application should be rejected on the grounds that it has not properly been advertised to local residents, only by a dog-eared notice attached to a lamppost on the opposite side of the road where there is no pavement.
