Myself and my partner do not want the application to be approved. The garage would be placed behind our house, which used to be perfect and private. A number of trees have already been removed, presumably to make space for the garage, which has had a significant impact on the local nature as the area once used to be thriving with birds, squirrels and foxes, and is now a somewhat wasteland. Additionally, we do not wish for the noise of yet another garage, as we have a 6 month old son - and are not the only ones on the road with a young baby. All in all the proposal is selfish - there is no need to fill what's left of greenery with an unnecessary garage which could go anywhere else. Our back garden already feels significantly less private due to the cutting down of the trees, and the privacy and quietness of the garden was one of the initial things that drew us to the property. Finally, we feel as though this is incredibly unfair on the local wildlife, who have been here and have already had to adapt to one significant change and now - should the plans go ahead - will have to either adapt once more or leave altogether. I, for one, would much rather look out of my window to the sight of wildlife than an unsightly, unwanted and unnecessary garage.
