We apartment 4 Park View Court, being ground floor. We selected this because of its design, general appearance and facilities provided i.e. All fitted appliances, underfloor heating etc giving us peace of mind. However a particular landlord higher up the road was recruiting tenants from the who were roudy argumentative and did not fit into the neighbourhood. The police appeared regularly. I certainly do not want this recurring with the introduction of difficult tenants if the modifications to the Yangze goes ahead. There have been many rumours circulating. I don't want any upsets to what has been a very pleasant life, in addition the other 5 apartments have resident's . We were looking forward to the new houses being built in the land behind which could enhance the value of the property not modifications to an old building which does not look suitable and would have the reverse effect on our property. It is important to determine what is council land to the front and rear. The new facial appearance should be in keeping with the current legislation on the listed buildings and conservation areas including window design like ours and listed buildings Please note that the application states 149 Halifax Road, but our property is 149? In conclusion would you want your parents to be burdened with these concerns.
