The proposed extension to the property in question will still violate the privacy of both Ryefields and also my address at Ryefields. We benefit at the moment by having private gardens with trees that although back onto each other are still private for when we want to sit out and spend time there. We also do not have people being able to look into our property from adjoining properties. The new plans that have been submitted reducing the size of the upper window and showing the eye level going over the top of number Ryefields does not take into account that the human eye and head can move in various different ways. IE up and down and side to side. Anyone standing in that window will have full view into all the rear facing windows of number and the master bedroom of number Ryefields. This is also taking into account the currant layout of the existing trees and bushes. should this build be allowed to go ahead who is to say that the people at the property, once having got the extension built don't go a stage further and also remove the trees on their land making the situation even worse. If the proposed building was able to have this elevation then why wasn't the house built that way in the first place. Simple! because it wasn't allowed due to the privacy of the neighbours. I strongly protest against this build and suggest that the proposal be refused.
