I have been following the EcoHolmes development proposals and am pleased to see it now come to the planning stage. The need for homes to be sustainable in our current climate crisis is imperative, and for these homes to be affordable in the Holme Valley is fantastic. The design with lots of communal space, and layout of the site seems to create an open and community friendly space. Choosing the site which is currently unused feels like a good choice and that the development is only 10 houses feels like this will be a great small addition to the Scholes community.
