The buildings would be on a dangerous bend with no footway even though apparently a footway would be put in making the road even narrower. Scholes has very little green space for locals taking away more green space/habitat. Infrastructure is not fit to take anymore additional houses and cars in the village. Parking for visitors would not be enough if more than one lot of visitors arrived at the same time parking would be on the bend dangerous, accident waiting to happen or parking on White Wells Road making the turning into White Wells Road dangerous on a blind bend. The Chippings is prone to flooding when we have alot of rain. I do think someone should think about climate change when thinking of filling up everywhere with housing when there is more than enough brownfield sites in Huddersfield with the infrastructure already in place. Building houses in villages is not every eco friendly with the emissions from cars going about their business.
