At last a small scale development seeking to address problems both of housing affordability in the Holme Valley and energy use and costs! The design of the houses seems sympathetic to the local area. The proposal looks to be making an improvement to sight lines on the sharp bend at the end of Chapel Gate; as an 'eco' scheme I would hope that not all of the car parking spaces are needed or used. I'm not sure how an old quarry/ dumping site is not classed as 'brownfield'/previously developed land rather than green belt but even if that is the case the proposed scheme is far more coherently within the envelope of the village than some that have been approved and developed in recent years and should be approved.
