I strongly object to these plans. The land that the houses are intended to be built on is situated on a dangerous bend in close proximity to a local school. This site is green belt, by building on this site the local environment will be damaged. There are beautiful trees, birds, wildlife that will be destroyed. Locals use this land as a green space. If they build on this site it is less greenspace within the area. The houses will not be eco homes when building them destroys such much green space and wildlife?
