This site is a wonderful green area for wildlife and recreational use and enhances the experience of living in Scholes. It is used daily by people out walking and walking dogs (so a bit less time for dog walking on pavements) as well as local children, particularly on bikes. Also the area floods occasionally and when it does, it is like a big pond, so obviously that water needs to go somewhere. If diverted, it would run down the adjacent road and cause more problems to the houses on the left along Dean Bridge Lane. The final reason why this is not a suitable site for development is that it is on a bend and some cars do come up the hill at speed and round the corner. Even if the entrance is further along Chapelgate, I do feel there will still be a danger as people will be coming out of the development as cars come around the corner.
