Firstly I think the development is on a bad bend in the road which is dangerous and I'm sure will end in some nasty accident if the development goes ahead possibly fatal as it's quite a fast road . There's also enough traffic as it is around there with our adding approximately another 20 cars . Secondly I walk the dogs around there and that area is home to hundreds of rabbits , bats , birds and I've seen owls there and young deer playing there once . Do we really need to build there and take away more of the areas for wild life wouldn't it be better making it into an area where wild life can flourish and kids can play there . If we need more homes then can we not use the derelict buildings already scattered about that needs redevelopment.
