How can this be an alteration to existing conservatory when the owners have already demolished the conservator within a conservation area? The work has been carried out without planning permission.

The unauthorised work done doesn't match the brick work for the existing building.

When making alterations within a conservation area the bricks should match the existing building.

Put up a drainage pipe incorrectly (which the council have already made the owners reposition)

Unauthorisedly dug up the alleyway on west park street.

Wrongfully have removed a wall that belongs to 26 west park street.

The height of the unsanctioned work done is higher than the plans.

Left west park street like a dumping ground.

Would have harmed animals by this unapproved work Bats, hedgehogs etc.

As seen by the actions already undertaken by the owners of 1 Newsome Street who have had no consideration for the rule of obtaining planning permission before any work that should have been carried out .This planning application should be rejected.
