Hi Katie

I took a phone call late last week from _____ who is a resident just around the corner from this proposed development. He had been unable to put in an objection to this application because _____ were not able to access electronically.

I agreed to pass his comments on. He feels very strongly that as a resident of Whitley for _____ this is a step too far. He feels that a bungalow (which is what the applicant told neighbours they were going to apply for) was bad enough, but he could accept that. But a 3 bedroomed house is something he can't accept. His reasons are:

1. Parking is at a premium now & if a family house was built this would add to the pressure
2. Traffic can't pass easily at this point anyway as the road is so narrow and an additional drive would just add to the pressure
3. He doesn't know where the vehicles from the current 5 bedroomed house will go – as currently on that land?
4. He believes neighbours will be overlooked and the house will be looking straight into current neighbours rooms.

I would be grateful if you can acknowledge receipt of this email.

Thank you in anticipation

Kind regards
