I can only assume this is a retrospective application as the building work was completed 2 years ago with considerable disruption to all the neighbours. When the builders were approached by myself i was told it was being built as of permitted building regs. The owner returned from living in france and i discussed his right to build he said it was all done as per planning i queried this but he said its done now. He has since knocked down an ornamental wall seperating both properties and cut down my trees while we were out and replaced the wall with breeze block. The extension has turned my conservatory into a store room as we no longer have the morning sun.
