The idea of up to 120 HGVs a day using any of the small roads between the quarry at Bromley Farm and Crow Edge is ridiculous. These roads are already extremely dangerous for anyone using them. Pedestrians, cyclist and horse riders often have to avoid cars and lorries driving too fast or close. Most of the roads have limited or no pavement. If there is a significant increase in HGV traffic, the danger and noise of the moving vehicles would become intolerable and inevitably lead to many more accidents.
