The proposed route for HGVs is completely inappropriate. Carr Hill Road has no footpath rendering it hazardous to pedestrians. Cars are generally parked on the road beside houses which potentially would involve a lot of noise as lorries have to stop and start to give way to other vehicles. The junction at the crossroads is dangerous and Visibility towards The Sovereign junction is limited for traffic crossing Penistone Road in both directions. The amount of extra traffic this would generate would make an already tricky junction even worse. Maybe the owners of the Quarry could be encouraged to pay for traffic lights or a roundabout.
