I think the lidl build will be perfect for the families around that are most feeling the pinch. The other. Local shops around are very expensive and don't always stock the things we need. In addition to this with new houses also being built in the area I think it will serve purpose very well. I think it is a great idea and it will help alot of local people in the community. We we're under the impression that there would always be a super market with the houses hence many people not Apposing them being built.
