Lower Mill Lane is completely impractical for this development. It narrows to a single lane half way down and generally is very congested on hollowgate. There is no where for goods vehicles to turnround on this road. The increase in hgvs going down hollowgate will cause lots of problems to the already silly situation on this street. Large deliveries to houses often have to reverse back down. The bottom of lower mill lane near the pub is is also very busy with lots of parks cars often making it difficult for car to enter the street. It's also a busy pedestrian area due to the beer garden. This area is a conservation area. The company who own this land have already cut down all the trees in the location (I'm not sure why this was allowed when the trees in this area are supposed to be protected). As someone who works from home I am also concerned about the level of noise pollution.
