From the current plans, I wish to object, but would be open to a revision if indeed a rebuild is required at all. Firstly, this area requires dry stone walls or similar style, this does not look to be listed in the plan. Any deviation from the existing design would substantially impact the character of the area. The wall in place currently is historic, and although would not be perfect by a current wall's standards, still looks to be sound - I would question the necessity for this, as any rebuild impacts the conservation of this area. Thirdly, the area is surrounded by old trees, many of which are under a TPO. If this (revised) application is to proceed, strong emphasis must be placed on the protection of all existing trees and surrounding landscape with significant fines to be imposed should any be damaged accidentally or otherwise
