Hi, After reading the latest objection comments relating to the problem of parking and congestion on Kingsley Avenue, I would like to point out that this problem is not as bad as it is being made out to be. I believe that cars are deliberately being parked on the road and pavements to make it appear that way. I have taken the following photos during the early morning and evening to show the extent of the problem.

As you can see from the photos, the access to Kingsley Avenue is clear, even with a couple of cars parked on the pavement.

Residents who are opposed to the development, complain that the bin wagon is unable to get onto the street, yet they still park irresponsibly and for some reason are blaming the proposed development for this.

☹️ I would like to remain anonymous thank you
