

Hi, I am against this construction and this can't go ahead! It's causing too much commotion in the neighbourhood. None of the previous concerns raised have been adequately addressed and instead have been brushed under the carpet. The parking situation is a concern, it has always been a concern, it hasn't 'come alright' now due to this construction but is merely a highlight for a recipe to disaster. If we don't speak up this WILL get WORSE. Adding a further 10 houses most likely with a minimum of 10 cars is not going to make things any better?! This should not be dismissed. Most households on Kingsley Avenue holds atleast 2/3 cars each there is not enough room for everyone already clearly! Adding to this will not help in any way shape or form This is going to ruin everyone's life's on the street. The build up of traffic which is already bad on yews hill road will get worse people are complaining about this for a reason. I cannot imagine how miserable all our lives would be throughout this construction period. The street will be dirty, potholes would start appearing again due to heavy goods vehicles going in and out, there will be dirt dust and debris everywhere. The current character of our neighbourhood is a small tight community where everyone gets on. This application has really put a downturn on everyone's mood where the said family feel as though everyone is jealous of them for raising serious concerns when this is not the case. We should not have to suffer in silence - enough is enough. They are causing a right stir and people to go in favour of this application clearly - the assessment from brindle & green should be dismissed as when I was walking up the street they were being probably for the results to be in favour of the said party. I've witnessed some really cool wildlife myself and even a badger on our street!! We regularly see foxes, birds and other wildlife which we welcome with open arms. If this construction goes ahead it will be an absolute disaster for everyone on the street. This seriously needs to be reconsidered as it has no benefit to anyone.

Doing a bit of research there are currently 21 properties to let within 0.5 mile radius and a further 15 currently for sale through various estate agency's. If anyone is currently in need of a house I'd suggest you take them up as they are already on the market - there is no need for this extra noise and pollution if there's properties readily available within the local vicinity already. There's clearly no shortage of houses in Huddersfield.
