The impact of the increased traffic associated with the addition of in excess of 250 houses as well as the 300 units proposed in the retirement village will be too much for the area and infrastructure to cope with. Storthes Hall and the small neighbouring villages Farnley Tyas, Stocksmoor & Thurstonland will all suffer from the increased traffic. It's not just the vehicle traffic that will increase but also people on foot and not many of the local roads even have footpaths. Many of the local roads and drainage are already in disrepair and months of heavy construction site vehicles accessing the area will cause a lot more damage. I also feel the scale of the proposed development will spoil the character of the area and this should be preserved.
