Tee Motors is located in a very ideal place. You can buy car parts from the same street (Direct Motors) and get your car fixed a few doors down. It's very ideal for everyone in the locality. Hence why I support the conversion of a storage unit into a garage as it will definitely be of use. There are no trees next to their building so no damage would be caused in the conversion. The building itself has been very well built. It definitely looks like a professional garage and the appearance suits the street as it has both a car parts shop and a few industrial units on the same street. I believe tee motors have adequate parking for its customers. They've not parked a single customers car on the road whilst I've visited them for my car repairs. So I support this conversion to a garage use without any objections.
