I do not live in the village, but often visit to walk and enjoy the ancient woodland, the bluebells are particularly special here and I enjoy seeing the deer and red kites. The proposed site adjoins the woodland and is important to the wildlife, the houses and gardens are way too close, there needs to be a large buffer between any development and the woodland. The sloped hill by the woodland is home to nesting birds. I cannot see an environmental impact study with the plans, has this been carried out?
