This is not a sustainable development; the public transport serving the village is infrequent and local highways are poor. There are no schools in the village or even a shop, so every journey is made by car. Most households in Stocksmoor have 2 or 3 cars each, there is no reason to assume that households on this new estate will be any different. I believe this has been completely misrepresented in the transport assessment, which assumes people will work from home, use public transport, walk and cycle; this is simply not possible. The proposed houses look to be of a very poor standard, which is not in keeping with the village. The higher buildings will obscure light and views and dominate the whole area. This is a small isolated village and completely unsuitable for such a large development. The woodland next to the site is full of wildlife and the site is way too close to this woodland, which is enjoyed by many visitors to the area.
