Oi dumplings have been in marsden for a couple of years now and haven't been a problem before. Customers would eat and drink alcohol after 6pm when they were at the previous building and didn't cause problems. They have now developed in to a restaurant and want to be able to open and serve people at normal restaurant hours. Most people work 9-5 and will go out for food in an evening. It will have a detrimental impact on their business by causing them to lose money. They have invested significantly in to the restaurant and should reap the benefits of opening beyond 6pm. Other eateries in marsden village centre open beyond 6pm to take advantage of people eating out in the evening and Oi dumplings should be no different. I fail to see what the impact on neighbours would be from Oi dumplings specifically when other establishments are able to open after 6pm. They should be allowed to extend their opening hours.
