Marsden is a changing village and we are seeing exciting and innovative ventures that are enhancing Peel street and surrounding streets turning it into a bustling and thriving centre. Oi Dumplings is an important and innovative part of this regeneration and it is sad and short sighted to stifle them in their business venture. As a restaurant they will attract diners, who are a very different crowd from rowdy drinkers. The Ale trail is a different story, but Oi dumpling offers little for this sort of clientele. Instead their menu will attract families and diners who seek somewhere to eat in the evening, something Marsden offers little of, with only Mozzarella as an alternative restaurant. It is a much needed and welcome addition and I support their application to repeal the archaic closing time that is currently in place.
