The mass population of Marsden is excited to see new businesses starting up in this once sleepy village. Our village now attracts young couples from far and wide that appreciate the beauty and the benefits of this part of west yorkshire. Oi dumpling owners are a hard working team of young women that have brought attention to their delightful and award winning travel inspired food, and educate the pallette of everyone who gets to feast on their yummy creations.

As a large majority of our village are working age who often commute between larger cities and towns, it is imperarive to the survival of this lovely restaurant that full time workers can get the chance to visit. It needs real and achievable opening times to serve the working public.

Me and my family were hoping to have a feast for our special anniversary and have messaged the business only to be left with heavy hearts that we cannot attend after work The objections of one person cast a raincloud over a ray of light.

This complainant, may not be able to appreciate the speedy transformations to this once deserted and rather desolate village centre. However the winds of change must inevitably come.

The village may even expand once again if future! achievable Mill funding models and regeneration dreams are realised!

Future residents and business owners of marsden will need somewhere to eat drink and relax amongst these beautiful hills.

This very same complainant had a habit of placing large signs outside her shop my children are now young working age adults, and are happy to be able to try this exciting cuisine.

I do hope that there is enough positive energy and support to encourage this young business to flourish and prosper.

This prime example may even spark a seed of inspirarion for the next generation of young entrepreneurs!!

Fingers crossed

Oi Dumplings

Marsden is behind you all the way. Xxx
